

If someone you care about was being radicalised, would you know where to get help?

If one of your friends or family was planning to travel to Syria, would you know where to go for advice?

Learn more about the impact extremism and terrorism can have on communities, and who can help support those vulnerable to radicalisation, by visiting this website for more information:

www.preventtragedies.org